This AGREEMENT (the "Agreement") is made and entered into by and between ThinkData, Inc., a California Corporation (hereinafter "ThinkData").

I represent and warrant that I have destroyed all copies of ThinkData's software package that I downloaded. I acknowledge that the aforementioned software contains legally-protected intellectual property rights owned by ThinkData, and that any use of unlicensed copies of this software may subject me to civil and criminal penalties.

I further warrant that I have not loaned, leased, distributed, sold, rented, given or leaked any copies of this protected software or of the unlock codes that I may have received when I purchased the software, and that after the destruction of the software or codes I have retained nothing that will enable me to continue to use the software.

I further warrant that I have not sought or advised a refund from my payment agent or credit card issuer, and that the refund of my purchase price by ThinkData will not result in multiple credits being issued.

The reason for my return of the software is:
